CROPS NORMAL IN NORTHERN PART OF WISCONSIN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Superior, Wis., May 17.—That there is not to be a loss in farm acreage in the northern sections of the state is shown by the reports received by the telegram of this city which has made a survey of conditions.

While reports of labor shortage and of loss of acreage for the season are numerous from southern and central Wisconsin and a general loss of 25 percent is reported. Only one county in this section shows a reduction in crop possibility. That is Bayfield where the county agent states that 10 percent less planting than in 1919 had been done. Chippewa county has a reduction so far of about 5 percent. "The talk about reduced acreage here," says the county agent, "is mostly bunk. High prices are inducing farmers to plant every available acre."

Reports by counties show that new crops, wheat and corn, show normal conditions. Oneda, Rusk, Vilas, Dunn, Lincoln and Sawyer will greatly increase crops. Potatoes have been largely increased in acreage. Langlade has an increase of about 10 percent and Rusk and Sawyer also report large increases in the new crops. The county agent says that there will be a normal planting, and corn acreage has been increased.

WARNING ISSUED ON AUTO LENSES

Local motor car owners will be interested in the newest warning of the industrial commission relative to auto lenses. The commission warns motorists not to buy lenses which depend upon the principle of diffusing light symmetrically through wide angles, as they cannot possibly comply with requirements of the law. If enough light is obtained it is certain there will be a glare.

Here is the commissioner's advice: "Frothing the upper half of the lens will comply with requirements if the lamp bulbs are adjusted behind the lower level of the headlight reflector. All devices to meet the requirements of the new law must throw the great bulk of the light below the level of the headlight. This result can be secured only when the lamps are properly adjusted in the reflector."

Samsons Divide Lop-Side Games With McCoy-Nolans

Lose Saturday, 11-2, in Ragged Game; Win Sunday 9-2, in First Two Frames

Walsh Goes up in Air in First Game, and Lathrop Knocked Over Lot—Famous Crutcher Blows Yesterday.

BY FRANK SINCLAIR

Samson Tractors went down to an overwhelming defeat, 11-2, before the McCoy-Nolans of Milwaukee, Saturday, in a ragged game, but yesterday afternoon came back strong and captured the battle, 9-2 in the first two innings.

Saturday's showing was not at all like the previous playing of the locals. They did not seem like the same team that made five straight victories. However, on Sunday, the Samsons exhibited a different brand of ball, knocked Crutcher out of the box in one and a third innings, and held the Cream City bunch to two runs, although outthit.

SATURDAY'S GAME

There's an old story that a drop of water permitted to fall at steady intervals upon a man's head will soon drive him crazy. The McCoy-Nolans of Milwaukee must have heard something of the kind of that kind of steady rain of blows that they were to receive in the opening innings they started to beat one after the other—short, snappy hits—that the Samsons didn't blow up when only one man was out and three were on, and Red Lathrop was rushed in from left field to try to save the day. But he failed, and the McCoy's reached for six runs, and the McCoy's romped away with an easy victory, 11-2.

Slim Shaky.

Something went wrong with the Samsons after the first inning. Crutcher, it might be said they started off badly. "Slim" was on the hill but threw the ball with an apparent lack of pep from the start.

An error in the opening frame gave the visitors their first run, and while this was out in the last half of the inning by Schwind's home run, it was not the work of a machine that earned it. "Slim" was on the hill but threw the ball with an apparent lack of pep from the start. The McCoy's didn't blow up when only one man was out and three were on, and Red Lathrop was rushed in from left field to try to save the day. But he failed, and the McCoy's reached for six runs, and the McCoy's romped away with an easy victory, 11-2.

McCoy's First Run.

Cole, the next man up, smashed out a two bagger and galloped home when Bues crashed into the pill for another two-bagger hit that Schwind muffed. Walsh grew more uneasy than ever and found easily.

Things started looking badly for the Samsons in the third inning when the visitors started on their bunting play. But luck pure luck, and got the favor the locals for a while. Even when Shook muffed up a play near home, and Walsh tumbled, Bues' bunt hit, permitting the bases to be filled with none out, the Samsons seemed favored. Cole fled to Breckenridge for the second, but when Nicholson shot out for home from second and got there, but—he was out for falling to touch third.

Again in the fourth, the Nolans continued to beat the Samsons now by bunting, to tell strongly on Walsh. He let go a floater that Rungie lifted on a hot drive down Sunday that Holland caught off his neck and caught Bues on second.

The Trouble Starts

In the fifth the trouble started. Clark started the stick work with a smash down the line. Nicholson died at first. Barbeau, who is reputed to be given more bases on balls than any other semi-pro in the Cream City, walked. Cole hit the sphere on the nose for a left field drive, scoring Clark. Bues, heaviest hitter of the series, sent a fly to Andrews, who muffed it, and Barbeau crossed the plate. Walsh was going to places. He walked Groehling, filling the bases. Rungie tried to touch the sky with a hit that went over Barbeau's head that pushed Cole and Bues home with two more runs, four in all for the inning.

Lathrop Put In.

Old Daddy Perring was tight. He motioned to Lathrop out at left to come in. Red, with broad smiles, came in when O'Day had three balls on him, and he gave him another for a complimentary ticket to first. Rungie died, Schwind to Holland, for the second out, and Custer went out for the rest of the pretty double play, Holland to Beale.

In the sixth inning, it looked as if the Milwaukee bunch were going to add another. Clark drove out a three bagger and was racing easily to stretch it into a homer when he tripped 10 feet off the bag and was tagged out by Perring. It was one of the toughest plays seen here this season.

Homers Score Six

Lathrop did not appear much more steady than "Slim." In the seventh, Cole found him for a single, but he remained on the base while Bues died with a sacrifice, and Groehling fanned. Then up comes Rungie with a two-sacker to send Cole in. O'Day—more like O than a Day to the Jans—found the bat.

Six Runs Made

Crutcher continued his bum stuff in the next frame. He started off by walking Shook. Dumont landed a short hit, and Ray took second. Then, somehow, the Milwaukee pitcher frightened out and struck out Breckenridge. But he was more like himself when he next walked Harry Holland filling the bases. Schwind, the next batter up, placed a nice single down the center. Then, when his opponent, the pitcher, was renewed by Shook and Dumont coming in. Father Perring singled a hot one, and the bases were filled. Bues, in the next frame, he played his game, rattle Bues, and when the latter dropped the ball, he was home with the first run for the home run. A run that he made entirely by himself through steady headwork.

Perring walked and shot around to first when Barbeau made a bad throw to first falling to get Lathrop, who continued on to second. The next man up, Lathrop, was out. The guy who made three runs Saturday for Milwaukee, pulled a bonehead play. With two on, he muffed a fly ball that went over his head.

For a home run to make three chalk marks for the inning. The Cream City walked. Cole hit the sphere on the nose for a left field drive, scoring Clark. Bues, heaviest hitter of the series, sent a fly to Andrews, who muffed it, and Barbeau crossed the plate. Walsh was going to places. He walked Groehling, filling the bases.
